They kept asking where was Larry. He never showed. So, they waited until the policeman came, then Larry, and they started shouting and banging on the car door. Then the woman told him, "He doesn't need to look for a job in the middle of the work day. He's a crime finisher and he could just as easily do it at night as during the day." While still in the car, he turned his head to look at her. She told me she saw he had been crying, and she said, "What's wrong, Larry? Why are you crying?" He looked at her and said, "You sound like my brother." He told me he felt he was getting close to God again. He said he now hears God's voice. The more he listens to God, the less angry he is. I asked, "Are you ready for God to show you up in the world?" He said, "I'm ready. I've been ready for many years. I just haven't seen him." I replied, "And if God shows you
