...#JavaTeamRohit The core team of SOA Gujarat is happy to announce the availability of GitHub release 1.0 (R1). This release includes a fixed release bug that has been reported by a satisfied customer. This release also includes fixes for 3 other bugs and a feature request. We're really excited to have been able to get so much feedback in so little time before the launch of this release. Project R1 (1.0) is open for additional bug fixes / fixes / improvements. This is the official release and all the information on this page is available. Any feature requests for next release are welcome.

Please note that it will take at least 2 weeks time to get the feedback from the community and consider it for the next release. There is no new release candidate for this version. We have gone for a stable release and are expecting the same to work as expected for all users. This is a new feature that will improve the auto discover of sample databases. The sample DBs will be listed in the root folder and it will also be listed in the help menu. Export JDBC class to a file: You can use this in your plugin to export JDBC code to a file. Currently, only standard JDBC code is supported. This is a bug fix to fix the error when the schema has more than 2 levels. Fix - With schema import, a file of the schema is downloaded in the workspace and then it's validated. Since java.sql.SQLException cannot be thrown when the schema is imported, the file of the schema is downloaded and validated. Save &
