

ADUN

2023 COLLOQUIUM

Social Justice in African Digital Contexts Colloquium

REGISTRATION

20 – 21 April 2023

ONLINE

Background

The theme of 2023's ADUN Online Colloquium III is Social Justice in African Digital Contexts. As digital technology continues to play an increasingly significant role in education, it is important to consider its impact on social justice in Africa. From the digital divide and its effects on marginalized communities to the use of digital technologies for social activism and advocacy, this colloquium aims to explore the impact of digital technologies on the social justice landscape in Africa. Through presentations, discussions and two workshops, we aim to gain a deeper understanding of the challenges and opportunities facing Africa in the digital age and to identify ways in which we can work towards greater social justice in African digital contexts. The workshops will be offered on 20 April and the presentations with discussion will happen on 21 April 2023.

Call for Presentations

We are currently accepting submissions for presentations for 21 April 2023 on the theme of "Social Justice in African Digital Contexts". Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- The impact of digital technologies on social justice in Africa
- The digital divide and its effects on marginalized communities
- The use of digital technologies for social activism and advocacy
- The role of digital education in promoting social justice
- The intersection of race, gender, and class in African digital contexts

Submissions should be in the form of an abstract (300-500 words) and a short bio (250 words max). Please submit your abstracts on the registration form by March 30, 2023.

Online Workshops
